Artist Living and Working in Tower Press

Where did you live before moving here? After graduation from the University of Toledo, I spent several years in Toledo and Michigan. I moved back to Cleveland around 2003.

Why Cleveland? Cleveland is home. It's a great Art town, and only getting better. I've had the good fortune to meet and work with some amazing people here. There are some incredibly talented and innovative artists in this town...some are well known, many more are not, but the work being done here is every bit as good as you'll find in New York or LA, or anywhere else.

Has your production increased in your creative space? Absolutely.

I've never been especially prolific, but having a place where I'm comfortable, where I can think and work, and play my music as loud as needed...a place that is uniquely mine, has been a huge benefit.

What part of Cleveland do you enjoy? I love the energy of the city. I love the noise. I love the people. I love that there is always something going on. I also love that really good Chinese food is only a block away.

How could Cleveland improve living for artists?
